State Sheriffs Told to Watch Their Image

By WADE BURKHART

ACCORD

A good record is the best answer to public criticism, and the hampering effect of recent court rulings can be offset by the use of new law enforcement tools, according to FBI Inspector William D. Griffith.

Griffith was the keynote speaker Monday for the 38th Annual Conference of the New York State Sheriffs' Association, being held this week at the Granit 2 Hotel in Accord.

The program introductions were handled by Robert L. Howard, the sheriff of Tompkins County, and president of the NYSSA.

Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin delivered the welcoming remarks. He earned loud laughter when he told the 30-odd sheriffs there assembled that he promised them "clean sheets and a pillow case" in the county jail if they got in trouble in his county.

Griffith, who noted that the sheriff's office was the oldest law enforcement position in America, said the problems facing sheriffs were much the same as those faced on the local and Federal levels. He said two of the main problems were "public criticism of law enforcement and adverse court rulings."

Concerning public criticism, Griffith said, "You have a good response. A record of solid performance."

A record of solid performance, in Griffith's view, "must contain a respect for civil liberties, and conformity to due process."

The image of law enforcement officials is very important in these times, according to Griffith, especially when dealing with the young.

"The young see the law not as a document," Griffith said, "but as that man in a blue uniform."

He warned that law enforcement personnel, including sheriff's deputies, were subject to "high public visibility", both on and off duty.

Griffith said recent Supreme Court rulings had had a "chilling effect on law enforcement." But he told the sheriffs, "You may not like them, but you've got to live with them."

One way of living with them is through improved law enforcement procedure and techniques. "Adverse court rulings have taken away some of the tools necessary for law enforcement, but new tools have been given. Science and progress have given them," Griffith said.

Improvements have been made, according to Griffith, in the areas of management techniques, transportation, communications, and weapons. Better crime laboratories, and faster and more complete information services have been developed.

Also speaking at the conference were Archibald Murray and Jeffrey L. Cohen, of the State Division of Criminal Justice.

Murray, who is the head of the division, told the sheriffs what they had to do to get a share of the Federal money allocated under the Safe Streets Act of 1968, which is administered through the state.

Before the Safe Streets Act, Murray said, categorical grants were given to individual localities from the Federal government. He said this placed a high importance on "grantsmanship" and did not allow much coordination of projects.

Under the new act, the state is administering the grants, and gives them out according to a state plan. Murray said the money was to go to impacted high crime areas first, but grants were given out to other localities when these localities got together in cooperative ventures.

The conference began Sunday, and will end Thursday morning.

Senate Advocates On Gun-Control Will Try Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — During his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said he would offer an amendment to require registration of all handguns and the licensing of owners, but its chances of adoption seemed slim.

A bill the Senate started debating Monday would ban the sale of snub-nosed, easily concealed handguns not suitable for sporting purposes.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the bill's chief sponsor, said it would take out of the marketplace the weapons most commonly used by criminals.

The Senate rejected 84 to 7 a substitute proposal by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to outlaw private possession of all kinds of handguns. Owners who turned in their pistols or revolvers would be compensated at fair-market value by the government.

Then, the Senate defeated 78 to 11 an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to require registration of all firearms—rifles and shotguns as well as handguns—and state or federal licensing of all gun owners.

The votes were the first taken by the Senate on gun-control legislation since the attempted assassination on May 15 of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace gan producing this type of weapon from both domestically produced and imported components.

Saturday Night Specials are defined as guns which have no sporting purpose.

"This amendment is a workable and practical answer to a plague of handgun violence. It recognizes the legitimate uses for handguns, but it also recognizes that you don't shoot ducks with a snub-nosed .38," Stevenson said.

Calling the handgun the "chief instrument of crime and violence in our society," Stevenson said "it's time to adopt effective handgun controls."

However, Sen. Edward Kennedy said the Senate should adopt his amendment "if we are seriously interested in doing something about crime and violence."

Hart voted for Kennedy's amendment although he said he didn't think the registration of long guns would be of much benefit to public safety.

Sen. George S. McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate, voted with the majority both times.

The proposals were offered as amendments to a bill by Sen. Bayh, D., outlawing the sale of pistols and revolvers known as "Saturday Night Specials."

Importation of such handguns was barred by the 1968 gun control law. But domestic manufacturers immediately began producing this type of weapon from both domestically produced and imported components.

Nixon Could Win, Lose on House Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon appeared to stand a good chance of beating back an attempt by House doves to legislate an end to U.S. participation in the Vietnam War.

But in so doing he risked sacrificing nearly $1 billion in military aid for Southeast Asian allies to continue the struggle on their own.

The House prepared to begin debate on a $2.1 billion foreign military aid bill that contains the first antiwar amendment ever approved by the House.

The amendment before the House would direct the President to halt all U.S. combat activities throughout Indochina, subject only to a release of prisoners, an accounting of the missing and a limited cease-fire.

Michigan Republican Rep. Donald Riegle, a foe of Nixon on the war, intended to outline at a news conference today the costs he computed the United States has paid in dollars and lives during the 3½ years of Nixon's "peace plan."

McGovern in Sharp Attack On 'Nixonomics' Policy

By United Press International
Sen. George S. McGovern, courting organized labor, said today "Nixonomics" is forcing workers to get by on poverty wages and is fostering a tax structure that rewards the rich and gouges the middle class.

With his goal of gaining the support of unions with 10 million membership by Labor Day more than 40 per cent achieved, McGovern flew to Miami Beach, Fla., to address the annual convention of the 500,000-member Amalgamated Meat Cutters.

"Deliberately throwing people out of work—that is 'Nixonomics,'" McGovern said in his prepared text. He said an additional 2 million persons are out of work now than when President Nixon took office.

"And that's not accidental; it's by design," McGovern said. "The plan was to stem inflation by slowing down the economy." But he said inflation continues.

A tax structure which rewards those at the top and gouges those in the middle—that is "Nixonomics," McGovern said. "It's the same old Republican approach—business gets a stern look once in a while, and workers get clobbered."

While McGovern flew to Florida, the Democratic National Committee prepared to ratify this evening his choice of Sargent Shriver, the former Peace Corps director, as the party's candidate for vice president. Shriver will replace Missouri Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, who resigned after it was disclosed he underwent psychiatric treatment in the 1960s.

Monday, Nixon's campaign manager, Clark MacGregor, argued the administration had brought the economy into such good shape that it would not have to ask for a tax increase for two years.

No Parking Lot Just Now

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The city won't be taking over the Sussin Building at 351-353 Broadway for a parking lot, at least not for about three weeks following action late last month by Special City Court Judge George A. Beck.

Beck granted tenants in the building an extension after he determined that the owner, Herbert Sussin, had not given them sufficient notice of eviction. Beck said tenants brought their complaint to him on July 27, stating that they were unable to find a place to live within the time given them by the owner. The law states that tenants must be given 30 days notice; they were given a week to present a "package plan" to and were to be out by July 31. The tenants will now have until Aug. 25 to vacate the premises.

The city has reached tentative agreement with Sussin to purchase the building for $23,000, it will then be demolished and converted into a parking lot.

Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward), chairman of the Common Council's Laws and Rules Committee and a special committee on Central Broadway, said that work is continuing on acquiring the Sussin Building and two other buildings on Broadway, the Beck building and Cuneo's building. Quick said he wants to present a "package plan" to the Council on all three buildings including the cost of acquisition, demolition and paying for parking lots.

On another matter concerning a building, the Jacobus Bruyn house at North Front Street and Crown Street, Quick said his committee is investigating the legalities of historic designations for that structure.

"The building doesn't look too good," Quick said, "but it does have historical significance. We want to see if we can designate it (an historic site) and then after a period of time, designate it if restoration is not accomplished." Quick's question then is whether historic designations are permanently binding.

Quick's Laws and Rules Committee will meet tonight with the planning Board and the Zoning Board of Appeals, to review a legal opinion from the state on the powers of the Zoning Board.

Specifically, the board claims the right to grant variances converting one and two family buildings into multiple apartments. Quick claims that constitutes a zoning change, not a variance, and that the Council has the authority. The ruling from the state, Quick said, indicates the Zoning Board has the authority in "hardship cases." "We'll discuss what constitutes a hardship and who makes the decision on what a hardship is," Quick said.

Check of Wallkill River

ALBANY — State and federal hydrologists today poured red dye into the Wallkill River at selected sites between Middletown and Rosendale.

The project is being undertaken by hydrologists from the U. S. Geological Survey of the Department of the Interior and the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation. After injecting the harmless red fluorescent dye into the river, the water specialists will measure the time of travel of water as it flows from point to point within the river. Although the dye will be visible for only a few hours, sensitive electronic instruments will be able to detect and trace the dye long after it becomes invisible to the eye.

Watercourses such as the Wallkill River often transport waste materials. The time of travel determines to a large extent the river's ability to transport and dilute such wastes.

A river's time of travel represents the time the river needs to move the peak concentration of a waste material from point to point. Natural channel irregularities, manmade obstructions, and changes in river discharge create considerable variation in the time of travel of water through long reaches of the river.

The objective of the project is to develop time-of-travel relationships for the 36-mile reach of the river from Middletown to Rosendale.

Lloyd A. Wagner, hydrologic engineering technician in charge of this project, said: "Once enough time-of-travel relationships have been developed, hydrologists will be able to predict, for example, when the peak concentration of a particular waste contaminant would reach a downstream point and for how long it would persist."

Simultaneous information on river discharge will be determined by special measurements of streamflow and from continuous measurements at the Survey's gauging stations near Unionville and at Gardiner.

The dye will not affect agricultural, commercial, recreational or municipal uses of the river.

The Geological Survey has made similar studies on the Mohawk and the Hudson Rivers, as well as on several other streams in New York State. All these studies are part of the Survey's continuing appraisal of the water resources of the state and the nation.

Kingston Town Board Places Limit on Road

SAWKILL — Whispell noted that the town has received a field emergency first aid station—equipped with bandages, splints, medical supplies and stretchers—for use during an emergency or disaster. The medical equipment was supplied by Charles Arnold, Ulster County Civil Defense Director. It will be stored at the Town Hall and firehouse.

A proposal to require the placement of fences around all swimming pools in the township was referred to the Planning Board. It also expected that the Planning Board will issue its recommendations on a dog ordinance at September's Town Board meeting.

Supervisor Kenneth Whispell said that the weight restriction was implemented because "the pavement can't withstand traffic that heavy." He noted that some of the vehicles that use the road carry loads that weigh as much as "25 or 30 tons."

The Town Board noted that trucks can, instead, use Hill Road to transport rock in and out of the shale quarries; a suggestion not greeted favorably by residents who live on that road. Several contended at Monday's meeting that the road is too narrow to accommodate the large trucks. The Town Board said the road will be widened and improved.

The weight restriction on Jockey Hill Road will take effect as soon as legal notices are posted and published.

In other matters, the Town Board deferred action on a new subdivision ordinance, pending action by the State Legislature on recommendations by the Ulster County Board of Health. Meanwhile, said Whispell, the Town Board will meet with the Planning Board to discuss the possibility of reducing the minimum lot size from 1½ to one acre.

Fish Acts to Increase Flood Control Projects

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr. has introduced legislation to raise from $1 million to $3 million the size of flood control projects which can be undertaken by the Corps of Engineers without specific Congressional authorization.

The amendments to the Flood Control Act of 1948 introduced by Congressman Fish would also raise the amount of annual appropriations for this type of small project from $25 million to $75 million annually.

Fish stated that he felt the increases in the statutory limitations on such projects were absolutely necessary at this time: "due to the spectacular rise in construction costs over the past few years, which has seen more and more projects planned under present $1 million project limit abandoned because costs have exceeded this ceiling."

Specifically, Fish said he has introduced the legislation on behalf of the City of Kingston, which is one of a large number of projects in New York State which has found absolutely necessary flood control projects jeopardized due to cost escalations.

In 1948, under the original act, the cost of such small projects which could be undertaken by the Corps of Engineers without specific Congressional authorization and appropriation was set at $100,000. Due to inflationary pressures at that time this ceiling was raised to $150,000 in 1950, to $400,000 in 1956, and finally to the present $1 million ceiling in 1962.

"Clearly the amount of project which could be purchased for $1 million in 1962 dollars, has no meaningful relationship to what $1 million can purchase in 1972 dollars," Congressman Fish said.

According to Congressman Fish, if the legislation can be enacted before the end of the 92nd Congress this fall, projects such as the Esopus Creek Flood Control Project assigned to protect the Kingston Uptown Shopping Plaza and Urban Renewal area could go routinely into construction next spring.

Severe Storm Belts Ulster

Power Restored in County

KINGSTON — A severe rainstorm, accompanied by high winds and an awesome display of lightning, interrupted electrical service for about 1,200 customers in three areas of Ulster County Monday night.

Joseph Benjamin, customer relations manager at the Kingston office of Central Hudson Gas and Electric, said the storm felled trees and knocked down six utility poles in the Centerville-West Saugerties-Fish Creek-Blue Mountain area west of Saugerties at 10:28 p.m., breaking a main feed line between Saugerties and Woodstock and leaving about 700 families without power until 10:48 a.m. today.

Shortly thereafter, the storm hit two areas in the western part of the county. The Ulster Heights area northeast of Ellenville in the Town of Wawarsing and the Shoham-Yagerville area in remote sections of Wawarsing and Rochester were still without power this morning, with about 500 families affected. Benjamin said that repair problems in the latter area were especially severe. The same district worked all night. Additional crews from the Catskill and Newburgh districts were brought in to help.

Power company officials requested customers in the woodstock area to restrict power use to essentials until repairs are completed. The line broken was one of two main feeders to the area, and the remaining line can carry only limited current.

New York Telephone Company officials reported several minor trunk failures but no interruptions of service due to the storm. Nine Centerville firemen reportedly spent the night in the fire house as a precautionary measure in case a fire hit during the storm.

Schmitz... Candidacy Spark in Dry Grass

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. John G. Schmitz, the John Birch Society member nominated for President by the American Party, describes his candidacy as a spark in dry grass—ready to burst into flame at any moment.

The dry grass, he contends, is the discontent of the millions who make up "Middle America." He says they are fed up with loafers on the welfare rolls at one extreme, and at the other with inheritors of wealth who flirt with socialism in search of political power.

The American Party picked Schmitz as its standard bearer at Louisville, Ky., last week after Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace decided not to run again.

Schmitz insisted in an interview Monday that he is a "serious candidate, not an unrealistic one." He said his main problem would be to reach enough people between now and November and that he would have to concentrate on television and radio. He said he had numerous invitations to appear on panel and talk shows.

"They're curious about the man who has taken George Wallace's place," he said. "They want to see what kind of man he is."

Schmitz is a lameduck Republican congressman from California's 35th Congressional District in Orange County, a bastion of conservatism. He was elected to Congress in 1970 after six years in the California State Senate, but he was beaten in the primary this year.

Bobby Fischer... 'Playing Mean'

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—Bobby Fischer "will be playing mean tonight," a friend said today as the American challenger and Soviet chess champion Boris Spassky prepared for their 12th game.

Fischer was crushed by Spassky in just 31 moves Sunday, trimming the American's lead in the 24-game match to 6½-4½. A win counts a full point, a draw a half.

It was Fischer's first defeat since the opening game July 12, and the friend added: "Bobby hates losing."

Fischer needs six more points to take the title and Spassky 7½ to retain it.

Spassky in the 11th game Sunday at last returned to championship form, particularly with a 14th move that the assembled grandmasters gaped at. The move, a backward side-step with a knight, cornered Fischer's queen.

"It takes a champion to attack backward," said Danish grandmaster Bent Larsen. "The match really is a great match now."

Friends say Fischer's defeat is certain to tighten his play and make him more aggressive.

Meet on Police Probe Call

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Whitman Knapp was scheduled to meet today with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's counsel to discuss the Knapp Commission's recommendation for the appointment of a special state prosecutor to root out corruption from New York City's criminal justice system.

In the first of several reports on its two-year investigation of police corruption, the commission urged that Rockefeller appoint a special deputy attorney general to head a new, independent agency that would investigate and prosecute such criminal justice system wrongdoing.

A statement issued by the governor's office Monday said: "The Knapp commission recommendations are being given very careful consideration. The governor is deeply concerned about the operation of the criminal justice system in New York City."

A spokesman for Rockefeller said Knapp would meet with Michael Whiteman, the governor's counsel, in the executive chambers of the Capitol.

Knapp told a news conference Monday that the appointment of a special prosecutor was "an urgent matter."

"The momentum against corruption has to continue," he said, adding that it is unrealistic to expect the district attorneys to prosecute such corruption effectively.

"The district attorney has to be in partnership with the police, and it's absolutely impossible to suspect your partner," Knapp said. "It's a human fact of life. I didn't create it nor can I repeat it."

He recalled the case of Detective Robert Leuci, who testified before the commission and is now the key witness in a federal investigation of corruption.

"Detective Leuci was a corrupt officer. He had been for years," Knapp said. "Down deep in the bowels of his soul he wanted to get out but he didn't until we gave him the opportunity. There are other Leucis and a lot of them want to get out."

Knapp said Monday night in an interview on WVRV-FM that the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association was unrepresentative of the average New York City patrolman in its opposition to police corruption probes.

He said that during the active life of the commission, many patrolmen had told him secretly that they thought the investigation was justified and necessary.

Four States Voting

Primary Focus in Missouri

By United Press International

Four states hold primary elections today and national attention focused on the gubernatorial race in Missouri where voter disaffection over Sen. Thomas Eagleton's resignation may help the Republican ticket this fall.

Michigan, Georgia and Idaho also hold state primaries to select candidates for state offices and seats in both the U.S. House and Senate.

In Missouri, Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick anticipated a million-voter turnout, the first in a primary since 1936. Among the reasons was the aroused interest of voters who felt bitter because of Eagleton's withdrawal from the Democratic national ticket, and also the fact that 17 candidates were vying for the governor's mansion.

The gubernatorial candidates include 10 Democrats, five Republicans and two independents. Although Missouri has never had a Democratic governor for 30 years, the GOP is given a good chance this time because unhappy Democrats may cross party lines to vote for a party lites to vote for a Republican.

The Republican most likely to benefit by this appears to be Christopher "Kit" Bond, elected two years ago as state auditor. Four of the 10 Democratic contenders are considered favorites.

In Georgia 14 candidates are challenging incumbent David Gambrell for the Democratic Senate nomination. Gambrell, appointed last year after the death of long-time Sen. Richard B. Russell, is expected to survive the primary but is almost certain to be forced into a runoff.

His most likely runoff opponent is former Gov. Ernest Vandiver or state Rep. Sam Nunn. U.S. Rep. Fletcher Thompson has only taken opposition for the GOP nomination.

In Idaho, a senate race plus a hot, three-way contest for Christopher "Kit" Bond, elected two years ago as state auditor, expected to produce a record turnout of 175,000 voters.

Congressman James A. McClure is up against former Gov. Frank J. Kelley.

Robert E. Smylie, former Congressman George V. Hansen and former White House staffer Glen Wagner for the GOP senatorial nomination for the seat of retiring Sen. Len B. Jordan, a Republican.

State Attorney General William E. Davis of Idaho State University, Attorney Byron Johnson and Women's Liberation advocate Rose Bowman seek the Democratic nomination.

Despite a variety of issues, including busing, a light turnout was predicted in Michigan where the top position at stake is the U.S. Senate seat held by incumbent Republican Robert P. Griffin.

His seat is being sought by Democrat Attorney General

Search On For Suspect

TOWN OF HURLEY
Area authorities today pressed search for a young man wanted for questioning in connection with the alleged sexual assault on a 15-year-old girl that occurred shortly before 9:30 p. m. Monday on Lucas Avenue Extension in this township.

Senior BCI Investigator Joseph Valicenti, who conducted an investigation of the incident with Investigator Wayne E. Beyea, said the girl, whose name was not disclosed, told authorities she was walking to her home when a man reportedly in his early 20's, jumped out of a clump of bushes and grabbed her.

The man, described as a black man or Puerto Rican pulled her into the bushes in a dark area and allegedly raped her, police were told. The girl eventually freed herself and ran to her home in the immediate area and notified her parents, who summoned State Police from the Hurley station.

Valicenti said the girl was examined by a physician. She apparently was not injured by her assailant who was described as medium build.

Vogt Moves For New Trial

KINGSTON
Melvin Linzy of Poughkeepsie, who was found guilty of rape in 1969 and whose verdict was reversed by the Court of Appeals in mid-July, will be tried again in Ulster County Court. District Attorney Francis J. Vogt told County Court Judge Raymond J. Mino Monday that he wants to try the case again and moved the matter for trial. The case was adjourned until Aug. 21.

Judge Mino also sentenced Robert Stubbs of Ellenville to six months in Ulster County Jail. He was under indictment for assault in the second degree, a Class D felony. Linzy, also known as Melvin Linear, was tried by a jury on charges of rape of a 17-year-old Ulster County school girl who "willingly" but apparently "unwittingly" accepted a "lift" in a car from a male stranger in the early morning of Oct. 13, 1968. He was under a 15-year sentence.

The Court of Appeals reversed the verdict after the Appellate Division had affirmed the decision earlier by a vote of 3 to 2.

ACTOR FOUND DEAD—Actor Tom Neal who appeared in 180 movies before his acting career collapsed over a fist fight, was found dead at his home at the age of 59 on Monday. He was pronounced dead of "natural causes." Neal, paroled from prison Dec. 8, 1971, after serving a seven-year sentence of involuntary manslaughter in the death of his third wife, Gail, was known mostly for his he-man roles in grade B films. His career ended in the unfavorable publicity surrounding his brawl in 1951 with actor Franchot Tone over the affections of actress Barbara Peyton. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Busing Bill Approved, Limits Courts' Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Education and Labor Committee today approved a bill that would sharply limit the power of the courts to order busing in school desegregation cases.

The bill, which would provide legislative standards to guide the courts in desegregation cases, is a modification of one proposed by President Nixon.

Before approving the bill by a 21-16 vote, the committee made two major changes. It added a provision designed to upgrade inner-city schools as an alternative to desegregating them, and it removed a provision that would have permitted the reopening of desegregation orders already in effect.

Nixon had asked for authority to concentrate funds in predominantly black inner-city schools but did not request specific funds to carry out the proposal. The committee authorized $500 million a year for the purpose, with the money coming out of $1 billion a year authorized in a recently passed bill designed to help schools desegregate.

The final vote came after two weeks of delaying tactics by opponents and with many amendments still to be considered. A time limit was set for the vote that prevented taking up the amendments.

The desegregation standards proposed in the bill would require the courts to try all other methods of achieving desegregation before turning to busing.

Investigating Burglaries

KINGSTON
Kingston detectives said today that two offices in the medical building at 325 Albany Avenue were burglarized sometime overnight. They also reported that thieves attempted to burglarize a third office in the building, but were unsuccessful.

The basement office of Dr. M. Madani was entered by ripping a screen off a rear window and breaking the window glass. A lone Kennedy half-dollar was reported missing.

The neighboring office of Dr. Yulin Yan was also burglarized. Entry was gained by breaking down a door leading to the office suite. An undetermined number of disposable syringes were reported taken.

Both offices were completely ransacked, said detectives.

Police also noted that thieves apparently tried to enter the first floor office of Dr. Alfred Zamm, but were unsuccessful.

variances by commercial firms, but took no action on the matters.

Master Juvenile Products, a firm manufacturing children's toys near Walker Valley, requested a variance that would permit the firm to move its factory to a site on Route 52 between Walker Valley and Pine Bush. The board reserved decision after a discussion involving board members and about 50 persons in attendance, asking the firm to submit detailed drawings of its planned new facility to aid the board in reaching a decision.

The Van Deusen Fuel Oil

Company of Wallkill, the former Howell Fuel Oil Company, requested a variance that would permit construction of a 20,000-gallon storage tank, two 10,000-gallon tanks, and pumping and handling apparatus on a plot along Route 300 about a mile east of Wallkill. The firm also was directed to submit detailed drawings of the planned installation to the board. The area is presently zoned for residential-agricultural use.

ZBA Chairman Halsey Sherwood said the board would reserve decision on both applications until it had a chance to study the detailed plans.

Hiroshima Peace Rally Staged

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON — The major stumbling block to peace efforts in Vietnam is the political situation in South Vietnam, an American Friends Service Committee staff worker who recently returned from Paris said at a press conference in Kingston Monday.

While in Paris, Danis Regal and 13 other members of what she termed "the little fish brigade" met with representatives of the various delegations at the peace talks.

The press conference was one of several activities in support of peace held Monday, the 27th anniversary of the bombing of Hiroshima.

A noon rally in Forsyth Park with Ms. Regal as the keynote speaker attracted a sparse crowd under the cloudy skies.

Also at the rally, $125 was given to Ulster County Friends of the Farmworkers for emergency food funds. The money represented taxes which have been withheld from payment to the government in protest against the war in Southeast Asia.

Following the rally, those attending marched to the Internal Revenue Service office on Fair Street where four were executives to present a letter to IRS workers to join the resistance and to allow the people to have a right to decide how their tax dollars are spent.

All went peacefully at the IRS offices according to a spokesman for GROPE, Group for the Reconciliation of People Everywhere, the non-violent organization which sponsored the "Peace Day" activities in Kingston.

According to Mrs. Regal, a one-time resident of High Falls who now lives in Philadelphia, informal discussions with representatives of North Vietnam and the provisional Revolutionary Government (Viet Cong) of South Vietnam revealed that the U.S.-supported Thieu regime in the South is the major thorn in the side of peace.

According to Ms. Regal, the prisoner-of-war problem is not of major importance in relation to peace efforts. The North Vietnamese feel there is no reason to keep prisoners once the hostilities cease, she said.

There is wide support among the Vietnamese for the Viet Cong's seven point plan and a great desire for peace in Vietnam, she added.

Concerning allegations that the U.S. is bombing dikes in the Red River Delta in Tonkin, Ms. Regal said she saw high-quality photographs of bombed dikes.

"We have sufficient evidence from several sources to be sure dikes are being bombed in North Vietnam," she added.

The major concern with such bombing is that it causes hidden weaknesses in the earthen structures which may collapse during the flood season, resulting in widespread death and destruction in what is one of North Vietnam's most densely populated areas, Ms. Regal said.

She added that the North Vietnamese resolve will not be weakened by bombing or the mining of Haiphong harbor.

An evening discussion led by Ms. Regal at the Franklin Street AME Zion Church drew only 15 people, some of whom were directly involved in the organization of the day's activities.

During the discussion she said that the major question in Vietnam is not possible flooding or starvation due to bombing, but that we have no right to be there at all.

Ms. Regal said much of the life in North Vietnam is going on underground.

During her trip to Paris, she also met with representatives of the Cambodian delegation, the Union of Vietnamese Residents — a coalition of Vietnamese living in France, and Father Thi, head of the Catholic opposition in the south.

Ritual of Truck Hijackings ... Local Involvement Cited

By CARL GRAHAM

NEW YORK CITY — Truck hijackings in New York City have become as ritualized and in some cases as non-violent, as the stagecoach holdups that punctuated the early Western frontier.

Hijackers drive cars instead of horses and they don't wear masks, but the whole hijack operation is as predictable as the plot of a sagebrush opera.

A lookout man spots a tractor-trailer loading at a warehouse or manufacturing plant somewhere in the metropolitan area. If he has reason to think the cargo is valuable and readily convertible into cash, the truck is followed as it leaves the loading dock. Somewhere along the way, and it doesn't have to be a deserted spot, either, the truck is forced off the road.

The crooks, who usually work in packs of three or four, order the driver from the cab at gunpoint and drive the truck away. The other hijackers generally put the driver into their car and cruise around until they have word that the cargo is in a safe place and there is no danger of being stopped with a "hot" vehicle.

Most drivers go along peacefully and emerge unharmed to notify police and their home office of the enforced detour of their cargo.

A recent hijacking involving parts destined for a Saugerties manufacturing firm followed the traditional pattern, but someone slipped up in evaluating the cargo, which was recovered unharmed the following day.

An official of the C and L Motor Transportation Company of New York City said that one of their tractor trailer rigs left the Hicksville, L.I., plant of the Ferroxcube Corporation shortly before 4 p.m. on August 2, after loading a cargo of parts for the Ferroxcube plant on Mt. Marion Road, which manufactures computer components.

"The lookout man apparently thought the truck was carrying a valuable cargo of electronic parts," the official said. "Actually, the truck was almost full when it went there, and the Ferroxcube shipment was only a small part of the load."

John Putnam, manager of industrial relations at the Saugerties plant, said the shipment was of no possible use to anyone other than the manufacturer. The rest of the cargo had little cash value for the thieves, either as it turned out.

Robert Ahlers of Maspeth, the tractor trailer driver, was rolling along the Long Island Expressway en route to Saugerties and the C and L depot in Red Hook when three men in a car forced him off the road at Greenpoint Avenue in Queens. Hundreds of motorists passed by during the hijacking, but none of them seemed to think there was anything unusual about three armed men taking a truck away from its driver.

Ahlers made no resistance as one of the men drove the truck away. He was put into the back seat of the car and a large woman's beach hat was jammed down over his face to keep him from getting a good look at his companions, who drove around for two hours before letting Ahlers out at Shore Parkway and Knapp Street in Brooklyn.

Ahlers telephoned his home office, which in turn notified the Safe and Loft Squad of the New York City Police Department, which in turn assigned Detective John Walsh to the case.

Another hijacking was all Walsh needed to make his day complete. When he responded to The Freeman's call about the hijacking, he apologized for not being able to remember all the details without consulting his case file.

"I had three other hijackings that day," he explained.

A hijacking in the Kingston area would rate extensive news coverage. In a city where detectives investigated 58 homicides in one week recently, a hijacking doesn't rate the papers at all unless it involves a rare use of force or an unusually valuable cargo.

A detective on duty at central headquarters of the Safe and Loft Squad read off at least 15 cases that had occurred on the same day while searching for the C and L heist.

The classic hijack case ended on a slightly unusual note. The crooks, apparently believing they were intercepting a valuable cargo of electronic parts, found instead they had gotten a mixed bag, including such mundane items as a few cases of soft drinks destined for a hospital.

Like the man who stole a shoe salesman's sample case filled with left shoes, they apparently decided it wasn't worth it. The truck was found the following day on Staten Island, undamaged and with its cargo intact.

Rhinebeck Democrats Elect Committee Head

THOMAS HAYES has been elected chairman of the Rhinebeck Democratic Committee in the recent annual reorganizational meeting.

With all but one member of the full committee attending the meeting, James Hawco received the designation of vice chairman once again. The election of other officers was put aside until the next meeting.

In accepting the post Hayes stated, "The late President Kennedy said in his inaugural address in Jan., 1961 'Let us not forget the good things of the past but instead use them quality candidates for public office they will have to support I am deeply grateful for the confidence that the Rhinebeck Democratic Committee has placed in me by my election as its chairman."

According to Hayes, a Cedar Heights Road resident, the Rhinebeck Committee "is very much alive and well and will continue to grow with the active support of the enrolled Democratic voters and those non-enrolled voters who have been looking for a way to go."

He further commented, "If the people of Rhinebeck are to continue to have a choice of the past but instead use them quality candidates for public office they will have to support them actively and financially."

The Democratic booth at the Dutchess County Fair this year will be staffed by the Northern Dutchess Democratic Women's Club under the direction of its president, Mrs. Patti McCarton.

Freeman Editorials

Greasing the Pig

To grease or not to grease (the pig, that is) seems to be very much the question. If the mail coming into The Freeman on this subject is any sort of an indicator, then the heat being generated onto Douglass Bartow, manager of the forthcoming Ulster County Fair, must be somewhat uncomfortable.

The pot of controversy is boiling over the scheduled greased pig event at the fair, the salient details being that a young pig is greased and then chased about by a bunch of enthusiastic youngsters. Presumably the winner is the glue-fingered child who can capture and hold onto the slippery victim.

Protests rang from "unsportsman-like," "inhuman" to "wanton cruelty to animals." One would get the impression that the whole thing smacks of the Colosseum in the old days of Rome's glory.

Mr. Bartow undoubtedly knows the business of running a county fair—but for a piece of unsolicited advice, we'd say forget this event.

Addicts on Welfare

There are 26,493 addicts in New York now receiving welfare relief in the aid-to-disabled category. The city has decided to discontinue financing addicts who do not take therapy in an approved drug treatment program. Such addicts will be removed from the welfare rolls at once.

The action is being instituted to make sure that all addicts receiving welfare money are also receiving treatment. "Our main concern," said the city's Human Resources administrator, "is not so much to remove them from the welfare rolls as it is to help them kick the drug habit."

The big city's welfare addict problem has been costing $70 million a year. Under a new control index started last month, 250 duplications have been blocked-of applicants turned down or cut off at other centers. The new program, of "no therapy, no welfare payments" should reduce the addicts on welfare considerably, or send them to treatment centers to begin kicking the habit by taking the prescribed therapy.

It is perhaps too early to predict one possible outcome of this program. Will it drive addicts—those who are not taking treatment—to the streets again, to crime to support their habit? In other words, will the money saved on the welfare rolls cost citizens much more in robberies and thefts? We hope not, but the police should be alerted for a rash of assaults, muggings, thievery—that may be on the way.

the house. Child counselors warn: Be sure the friends' parents have similar standards to yours, and aren't alcoholics nor drug addicts nor will leave the children alone for the evening or night. It happens in the "best" families.

LOOK WHO'S TO BLAME — The greatly harassed Soviet consumer goods industrialists are now being blamed by their government "for failing to . . . meet the Soviet citizens' demand for more and better household and leisure products." It's the massive military and space effort which has kept the poor manufacturers panting for money and materials with which to make things.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Even if you're not a Democrat, you might consider making a contribution to keep the two-party system alive!"

WASHINGTON — The late President Kennedy quietly disassociated himself from an admiring Frank Sinatra after reading a Justice Department dossier on the singer's racketeer friends.

Vice President Spiro Agnew, however, has disregarded advice that he, too, should keep Sinatra at arms length. The Vice President, who met Sinatra through California's Governor Ronald Reagan, has found the controversial crooner to be a warm, thoughtful, sensitive friend. Agnew, therefore, accepts Sinatra's explanation that he was unavoidably thrown into the company of hoodlums during his rise from the streets of Hoboken, N.J., and has early days as a nightclub entertainer. The singer has never been implicated in any illegal activities himself.

In Agnew's company, Sinatra has always been the model of propriety. He still insists upon addressing Agnew as "Mr. Vice President," although they have frequently golfed, joked and loafed together.

Once, another golfer barged into their company, greeted the Vice President with "Hey Agnew!" and made a blunt remark. Sinatra politely excused himself, followed the intruder out of Agnew's hearing and threatened to throw the man out of the club if he ever addressed the Vice President as "Hey, Agnew" again.

Sinatra's Friends

Despite Sinatra's impeccable manners around the Vice President, however, the House Crime Committee possess FBI reports attesting to the singer's close association with various mobsters. Two of them allegedly visited Sinatra at his plush Palm Springs, Calif., hacienda not long after the Vice President has been a guest there.

Even the singer's own attorney, Mickey Rudin, made some startling admissions to committee staff members during the preliminary negotiations over Sinatra's appearance before the crime committee.

"Look," the fast-talking Rudin confided at one point to committee counsel Joe Phillips and his top aide, Chris Nolde, "Frank knows 20 of these guys."

"What do you mean 'these guys'?" demanded Nolde. "Do you mean organized crime figures?"

"Yeah," admitted Rudin. He went on to mention the singer's "friendship" with such underworld chieftans as Gaetano Lucchese, Sam Giancana and Joseph Fischetti.

Later, Sinatra testified he had met Lucchese only "once or twice a long time ago," and brushed off questions on other Mafia associates.

Rudin originally tried to keep Sinatra out of an open hearing, explaining that "he is psychotic about testifying before committees under oath." Nevertheless, arrangements were made for Sinatra's appearance.

Sinatra Ducks

But as Phillips later reported in a confidential memo to Chairman Claude Pepper, D-Fla.: "All during this period, according to his attorney, Mr. Sinatra knew that he was scheduled to appear on June 8 . . .

"We have subsequently learned that at the same time Mr. Sinatra's attorney was discussing the guidelines for Mr. Sinatra's testimony on June 8, he (Sinatra) boarded an airplane in Los Angeles and left the country."

Incensed, Pepper ordered a subpoena out for Sinatra at every major port of entry in the country. Senator John Tunney, D-Calif., who had tried to intercede for Sinatra, told Pepper: "Go ahead and serve him."

But this brought other calls in Sinatra's behalf. Among them: the Vice President's staff, several friendly congressmen, and Teamsters official Hal Gibbons.

As a result, Pepper withdrew the subpoena, permitted Sinatra to appear voluntarily and agreed to limit the questioning to Sinatra's holdings in a mob-infiltrated race track. Sinatra showed his gratitude by upbraiding the committee for calling him at all.

Footnote: Pepper and his staff have confirmed the quotes we have attributed to attorney Mickey Rudin. Rudin's office said, "Mr. Rudin does not accept calls from the press." A spokesman for Sinatra told us: "Mr. Sinatra has never denied knowing some of these people." As for the European trip, the spokesman said Sinatra had planned it "months earlier."

Uninvited Witness
Pat Nixon has confided to friends that she secretly watched the signing of the strategic arms agreement in Moscow in defiance of her husband's orders.

The First Lady wanted diplomatic wives to be present for the historic event. But President Nixon, fearful that the wives might somehow upset the Russians, disapproved.

The determined Mrs. Nixon witnessed the signing anyway. She quietly made her way down a long corridor in the Kremlin and stood behind the pillar as her husband signed the treaty.

Next to her was the President's communications expert, Herb Klein. Whispered Mrs. Nixon excitedly: "Herb, I just had to see this with my own eyes."

Money May Be Issue

WASHINGTON — A Presidential campaign can go on for a long time without a vice-presidential candidate, but it cannot long survive without an issue. If George McGovern has his way, the issue will be money — yours, mine and especially theirs.

To be sure, if September still finds Vietnam being fought on the front pages, then the war will be the dominant issue for the third straight presidential campaign. But Henry Kissinger's travel agent and his feats of diplomacy legerdemain are supposed to take care of that controversy.

The money issue can be indelicately described as McGovern's soak-the-rich scheme. That's why his computers seem so sluggish in providing final details of the plan.

Before the fog of campaign rote falls upon the substance of the issue, it is time to rescue some accurate descriptions of McGovern's motivations behind the issue.

"Of course, McGovern has a chance to win," Harvard economist and Massachusetts delegate John Kenneth Galbraith explained at the Democratic convention. "The reason is that the underprivileged have a tendency to be more numerous than the privileged."

This bald statement was refined by a former member of the Senate Finance Committee and a former presidential candidate, Eugene J. McCarthy: "I think it's the first time in history that 70 per cent of the people have a chance to vote for an increase in their own income at the expense of the other 30 per cent. You've got to admit, it's an intriguing proposition."

If one takes McGovern's $12,000 annual income as the pauper's edge of the "haves" and applies it to the official figures in the government's statistical abstract, one finds the McCarthy's guess is faster than McGovern's computers.

Another partisan practitioner of economics, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says that under President Nixon's wage and price controls "the working people have been getting it in the neck." He cites a gain of 1.6 per cent in real pay per man-hour in the past three months, calling it "real pay" because the cost of living has eaten up most of everybody's pay raise.

This paltry figure contrasts with the 8.9 jump in the gross national product so heartily trumpeted by the Nixon Administration last month.

The grinding out of economic statistics is a ponderous business, meaning that the most relevant data won't be available until the end of October, just before the customers visit that great quadrennial checkout counter.

If the Nixon Administration is still spreading stories of economic glory through October, then they feel that the pocketbook issue doesn't hurt and that they needn't fight

McGovern on the tax-reform issue.

If, however, McGovern has made soak-the-rich tax reform, high prices and high unemployment into menacingly real demons before the electorate, the President's campaign chiefs will field their own troupe of hobgoblins and exhumate "the social issue."

McGovern's alleged radicalism and violation of the Puritan ethic and other holy rubrics of American culture will be the major Republican campaign theme, rather than the upsurge of the economy.

The numbers are with McGovern, despite his poor showing in Dr. Gallup's arithmetic. In a relative sense, America was rich in pre-Nixon days and people somehow remember the stretch of 93 months of unparalleled economic growth.

Those numbers and that money issue that will so help McGovern were, ironically enough, a beneficence of the Democratic-sponsored Vietnam war.

Bruce Bioassat Says

Summer Bugs the Candidates

WASHINGTON (NEA) — As Sen. McGovern seems to be demonstrating with fresh force, candidates for the presidency evidently cannot handle long campaign summers very well.

This one was supposed to be a luxurious period in which the Democrats could organize superbly and without haste. Simply as an aside, McGovern would throw in a few sneak-preview visits to vote-rich areas.

So far it hasn't worked out that way. With the dumping of vice presidential nominee Thomas Eagleton and the earlier backing and filling over what to do with Lawrence O'Brien, the McGovern organization quickly took on the tattered look of a weary stage show road company.

Maybe the senator's top cast of characters should have known they couldn't look good all summer.

In the 1940s the metric Republican nominee, Wendell Willkie, was blazing a spectacular course in the days leading to his nomination in late June. Polls placed him close to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, but July and August dulled his magic. It was all over by Labor Day.

Eight years later, the GOP made another early pick, New York Gov. Thomas Dewey. Advisers, and the polls, told him, Harry Truman was a pushover. "Don't rock the boat," said the Republican experts. So Dewey spent the summer looking confident, while Truman churned up the dust. Dewey, of course, was a surprise second.

In 1952, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower won election pretty handsly. Still, he might have done even better. He never did figure out what to do with his summer. In August's dog days, the late publisher Roy Howard told him editorially to get moving, adding that he was "running like a dry creek."

John F. Kennedy's talented organizers were on top of the world when he won the 1960 Democratic nomination in mid-July. They made some key gains when they nagged Vice President Nixon into a series of fall debates. But their summer was mostly had news. An anti-Catholic crusade against Kennedy took the headlines, and he lagged in polls. He barely sneaked across at the finish.

Looking at all this, the wily Lyndon Johnson decided to veto summer. He scheduled the 1964 and 1968 conventions for late August. He got away with it the first time because voters used the warm months to think back over what his rival, Barry Goldwater, had been saying. But in 1968 the whole thing backfired when Johnson pulled out. His successor nominee, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, hardly had time to get the telephones in before he hit the fall trail.

Lawrence O'Brien, trying to plan the Humphrey campaign over a Labor Day weekend, never forgot the folly of it. That's the real reason the Democrats met this year in early July. O'Brien had vowed to give his party time to plan sensibly and well.

Flushed with victory in a disciplined convention, George McGovern seemed grateful for the spacious summer days. His organizers smiled expansively, thought big.

The man himself went off for a little rest in the Black Hills of South Dakota. What could go wrong among the rocks and trees?

The answer, of course, is "everything." The peace of the open country vanished in the clamor of the Eagleton affair. McGovern's horseback rides turned into urgent press conferences, and "vacation" became a new synonym for disaster.

COUNTY FAIR HORSE SHOW — The annual 4-H Horse Show is always one of the highlights of the Ulster County Fair. The horse show will be held this year Saturday, Aug.

Youth Board Plans Meeting, To Discuss Voter Registration

POUGHKEEPSIE — The Dutchess County Youth Board has scheduled an Aug. 9 meeting to discuss youth voter registration for this November's elections.

Slated for discussion are: the encouragement of registration of new young voters; methods of informing new voters of the various and complicated regulations and deadlines on voter registration; absentee voting, and some other aspects. The last day of central registration is Aug. 30. Central registration will take place at the Board of Elections, 47 Cannon Street, Poughkeepsie, open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

College students newly eligible to vote, who will not be in the community during September, should remember that they will be able to register only through this month. After Aug. 30 registration will take place at all local polling places on three days only: Sept. 30, Oct. 2, and Oct. 10. Local polling places will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. or young people away from home during the summer, absentee registration forms can be obtained from the Board of Elections. They may request an absentee ballot application at the same time. Such applications must be received by the Board of Elections by Oct. 10.

Numerous county and party officials have been asked to the Wednesday meeting, including the county executive and majority and minority leaders; county party chairmen; and election officials.

The Youth Board has prepared a fact sheet on youth voter registration which is available at the Youth Board Office.

'Heart' Donation Made, Carnival Proceeds Given

HYDE PARK — "Consistency" and dedication might be two words to describe the persistent effort of a baker's dozen young women from Hyde Park who have put on their seventh annual carnival to benefit the Heart Chapter of Dutchess County.

These 13 girls presented Mrs. Joan Fallon, executive Director of the Heart Chapter, with a check for $69 recently, the proceeds from their carnival. Some of this year's planners were only five years of age at the project's beginning. This year's carnival, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Martin in Hyde Park, marked the seventh consecutive year of existence.

Part of the group's success, according to Beverly Hennessy, age 13 and one of this year's senior planners, is the fact that they start younger sisters very early so that someone is there to take over as time goes by. The carnival includes a variety of sale, back sales, games and a raffle.

In accepting the check, Mrs. Fallon said, "It is really gratifying to see our young people taking such an active interest in our communities."

Participating were Gail Castles, 13; Joyce Castles, 5½; Anne Petrolino, 12; Louanne Sperry, 13; Cathy McAllen, 10; Anne McAllen, 8; Deidre Martin, 7; Maureen Martin, 10; Beverly Hennessy, 13; Mary Bawol, 13; Laura Bawol, 8; Debbie Halgas, 13; and Mary Ellen Burt, 4.

More than 35 exhibits from northeastern United States are expected to be at the show.

Red Hook Schools... Impasse on Contract

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK — The Red Hook Central School District and the Red Hook Faculty Association appeared to be deadlocked on several issues of substance in their respective reports to the Board of Education at Monday evening's legislative hearing on the contract impasse.

Representatives of the two factions tried a last-minute session Monday afternoon in efforts to finalize a contract, but without success. No future sessions have been set, according to District Principal Russell Keefe.

Dr. George Michael, board president, told the audience that no determination would be made that evening by the board.

Keefe gave his recommendations first, outlining the 14 points agreed upon after the fact finder's report had been prepared. They included notification of class assignment; teachers' work day; elementary playground duty; sick leave; evaluation; and tax sheltered annuities.

Richard Walker, president of the RHFA, said that he was appearing at the hearing "under protest" as the group felt that the hearing was a "mean ingless effort" and he asked for suspension of the proceedings. He added that the teachers wished to continue negotiations, and not be the subject of a Board decision.

On points of disagreement the stated differences were:

SALARY — The district said there was no need to change the existing schedule and recommended the 4.7 per cent increase at increment steps suggested by the fact finder; the Association said it sought to maintain the increments and add a 5.5 per cent increase plus increasing remuneration for a master's degree by $300.

RELEASE TIME FOR ASSOCIATION OFFICERS — The district said it should not grant the reduced teacher load for Association work; the Association agreed with the fact finder's suggestion that the president be allotted one period per day.

CLASS SIZE — the district recommended no change in the contract; the Association asked that science and art department heads have a say in the matter.

PERSONAL LEAVE — the district asked for no change; the Association wanted a more confidential system.

SABBATICAL LEAVE — The district reassigned its position that a faculty member must have six years service, but said the sabbatical should be in three to three semesters; the Association wanted a summer sabbatical program.

JOB SECURITY — the district said there was no need for a provision; the Association asked for a written warning from the Board on dismissals and hearing before the Board.

LAYOFF PROVISIONS — the district recommended layoffs in reverse order of seniority for "tenured" teachers; the Association proposal left out the word "tenured."

The fact finder's report from the Public Employment Relations Board was issued by Francis X. Doherty. In the "salary" section of his written deliberations were included the findings that Red Hook "is substantially below the average school district in New York State in wealth" and that it is "blessed with the lowest tax rate in Dutchess County and the 46th (from the top) out of 51 districts in the Mid Hudson School Study Council area."

Doherty also said that "Rhinebeck, Pine Plain, and Red Hook have the distinct honor of running neck and neck for the poorest remuneration of teachers within the Dutchess County BOCES region."

The district has maintained that it should "be compared with Columbia and Ulster Counties" in such statistics, and the fact finder gave his reasoning "some validity."

A statement from the Red Hook Taxpayers' Association following the hearing said it was "behind the district's proposals 100 per cent."

New Radar For Village

RED HOOK — A proposal by Robert Ganley Associates, an engineering firm, to undertake a water survey for the village was tabled. Ganley gave a maximum bid of $1,000 for the study, saying he would be paid on an hourly rate.

Five bids on a 3-4 ton truck with snow plow were tabled.

Public Hearing

TOWN OF ULSTER

A public hearing on a master plan for the Town of Ulster has been scheduled for Monday, Aug. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the town hall. The plan has been in the Farms frozen food factory, making for three years as a which has been compounded by joint effort between the town board, planning board and other parties. Marbletown Board Meeting Is Canceled

STONE RIDGE

The regular August meeting of the Town of Marbletown Town Board, scheduled for Wednesday night, has been canceled, according to Supervisor Kenneth Smith.

Smith said the meeting has been canceled because several Town Board members are out of town for the week.

The regular schedule of meeting dates for the Marbletown Town Board will resume again on Sept. 12.

BETTER BUSINESS WITH SIGN — Michael G. Hemmis, 40, who has spent a fourth of his life in prisons, stands in front of his laundromat in suburban Park Ridge of Chicago, Ill. A sign proclaiming "owned and operated by an ex-convict" fills part of the front window. Hemmis said he has more customers now than before he put the sign up. Although business is booming, Hemmis wants to start a half-way house for ex-convicts "just to help them get jobs and keep out of prison." (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Pollution Discussion In Saugerties

SAUGERTIES — The Martin Cantine Company, a paper manufacturing firm that has been the subject of frequent criticism by village residents because of alleged odor and pollution problems, came up again at Monday night's meeting of the Saugerties Village Board.

Village Clerk James Gage reported that he had received four more complaints about conditions at the plant. Gage also said that a representative of the Department of Environmental Conservation office in White Plains had visited residents of the village recently about the problem and had left a supply of forms in the village office for persons wishing to file formal complaints with the DEC office.

The board heard a letter from Vidicom of Saugerties requesting an increase in cable tax.

The company was asked to discuss the matter.

Dr. Grant D. Morse of Ulster Avenue gave the board a petition signed by 23 property owners on Ulster Avenue asking the village to take all means necessary to control speeding there, and also to attempt to control excessive and unnecessary vehicle noise. The board agreed to make increased police patrols available in the area and to keep a record of these drivers warned for noise or issued summonses for traffic violations.

The board also received a letter from Richard Overbaugh notifying them that he intended to bring suit if the village did not stop the practice of using street sweepers on village streets before 7 a. m. Street Commissioner Maurice Clements and Public Works Superintendent William Votry agreed to study the present sweeping schedule to see if a more equitable schedule could be worked out.

Knapp - Martz Nuptials Told

The Rev. John Needham of Plattekill Reformed Church officiated at the double ring ceremony of Diane June Knapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Knapp of 86 Yarmouth Street, Kingston, and Charles C. Martz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Martz of 22 Elizabeth Avenue, Teaneck, N.J.

The wedding took place in Fair Street Reformed Church on Saturday, July 22 at 12:30 p.m. Gloria Jean Clark, organist, accompanied Mrs. June Pauker, who sang traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza fashioned with a fitted bodice and long full sleeves. The high neckline, sleeves and waistline were banded with wide sculptured Alençon lace. Matching narrow lace edged the A-line skirt and formed a border around the chapel length train. Her triple tiered silk illusion veil was shirred to a stylized organza and pearl floral headpiece. Mrs. Martz carried a bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis, and baby's breath.

Miss Glenda Knapp, Kingston, and Mrs. Carol Schaff, Port Ewen, both sisters of the bride, served as maid and matron of honor respectively. Attendants were Noreen Bowen, Debbie Wood, both of Kingston; Sandra Schabot, cousin of the bride; Ruby; and Donna Polhemus, Port Ewen. Trudi Scheffel, cousin of the bride, Ruby, served as flower girl. The attendants wore rainbow colored gowns of polyester voile, styled with empire bodices and long full sleeves. Eyelet lace formed "V" details on the bodices and accented the high necklines and sleeve cuffs. Wreaths of silk flowers dyed to match their gowns served as their headpieces.

The honor attendants and bridesmaids carried nosegays of carnations in colors to match their gowns and the flower girl carried a basket of white carnations.

Douglas Martz of Teaneck, N.J., served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Horst Baron, Kingston; Doug Plack, Joe Begendorf, Mike Newdow, all of Teaneck, N.J.; and Ray Schaff, brother-in-law of the bride of Port Ewen. Billy Scheffel, cousin of the bride, Ruby, served as ringbearer.

More than 120 guests attended a reception at Capri 400, Port Ewen.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Kingston High School. She attended Ulster County Community College and was employed by Benedictine Hospital in the personnel office.

Her husband, a graduate of Teaneck High School, class of 1970, attended Ulster County Community College. He is employed as a brick mason by Al Hoffmann Construction.

'Carmina Burana' By Popular Demand at Saratoga

As a direct result of its bring-down-the-house Saratoga premiere last summer, The Philadelphia Orchestra, led by guest conductor Rafael Fruebeck de Burgos, will present an unprecedented repeat performance of Carl Orff's rousing "Carmina Burana" on Wednesday, August 9. The work was received with such enthusiasm when first presented to the Saratoga Festival audience last year, that the Orchestra and the Performing Arts Center were pleased to schedule it for a second consecutive season — literally, by popular demand.

Three fine young singers will be the vocal soloists for "Carmina": Soprano Ruth Welting, tenor Kenneth Riegel, and baritone Peter Binder, and the Saratoga-Potsdam Chorus will execute the demanding choral sections. Miss Welting, a newcomer to watch, made her New York City Opera debut last year, singing five roles her first season. This will be her first Saratoga Festival appearance. Kenneth Riegel, who performed her in last year's "Carmina", is a young American tenor very much in demand by opera companies and as a concert soloist. Baritone Peter Binder is also making his Saratoga debut this season in "Carmina". Formerly with the Santa Fe Opera, Binder now spends most of his time performing with opera companies in Germany and throughout Europe.

The original "Carmina Burana" are a collection of more than 200 slightly off-color poems, written by wandering monks and scholars during the Middle Ages.

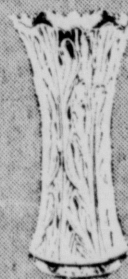

Rediscovered in the 19th century, 25 of these delightfully down-to-earth songs were arranged by the composer Orff into the present work, which is divided into the three related categories of spring, drinking and love. The music of "Carmina Burana" is physical in nature and immediate in impact, with additional effect provided by the rare and unusual-sounding medieval instruments which Orff used in his orchestration.

Since its world premiere in Germany in 1937, "Carmina Burana" has been presented with tremendous success all over the world, and is frequently performed in concert as well as a fully staged piece. It has been recorded on six different labels, including once by The Philadelphia Orchestra on Columbia, and once by Maestro de Burgos on Angel.

Look Out for the Old Man!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 40-year-old married woman and have been told that I am always been able to handle men who have come on too strong, but now I am stumped!

Would you believe that an 85-year-old man has been bugging me? He is well respected in this community, and always greets the women at church with a hug and kiss. I thought nothing of it as he seemed to love people so much.

One day he telephoned me and asked me to come by his house to get some fresh vegetables from his garden. (He lives alone.) I went there, was given the vegetables, then he embraced me and tried to kiss me! I had to struggle hard to get away from him. He's surprisingly strong for his age. I left as tactfully and quickly as I could, but that really shook me up. I almost told him off, then I considered that a man of 85 might not be as mentally responsible as a young man, and I didn't want to hurt his feelings.

He keeps calling me to come back for more vegetables, and I am running out of excuses. He calls so often I hate to answer the phone.

Should I keep making up excuses for not going back? Or should I tell him the truth and ask him not to call me anymore? I don't know how to get out of this situation. Everyone thinks he is such a dear old man, but to me, he's just a dirty old man.

STUMPED
DEAR STUMPED: He could be a "sick" old man. Don't be cruel, but do put an end to his calling by telling him firmly, but tactfully that you have decided not to return to his home without your husband. He'll get the idea.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: This man (I will call him Mr. Jones) runs a cement contracting business out of his home.

I have telephoned him at least a half dozen times trying to give him some business, but each time I call, a child answers the phone, says "Daddy isn't home," and hangs up.

I have no telephone in my home so I must make these calls at a pay station which costs me a dime every time I call. Do you think a man should allow his business phone to be answered by a child who can't take a message? And have you any suggestions for how to reach Mr. Jones?

FRUSTRATED
DEAR FRUSTRATED: You could write him a letter. But unless you have a concrete reason for wanting to give Mr. Jones your business, why don't you try someone else?

DEAR ABBY: I have worked in the same office for 18 years and there are many fine people here, but here is the problem:

Whenever somebody dies, gets married, has a baby or retires, I am the one who has the "privilege" of collecting for the flowers or gifts from the office gang.

Abby, please put this letter in your column. Everybody here reads it. It might wake up a few who still owe me. No name please. Just sign me THE COLLECTOR

Woodstock: 'Jacques Brel' Tuesday

From the time of its thunderously successful opening in New York, "Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris" continues to draw delighted audiences, proving itself to be, in the words of the very-much-with-it Village Voice, "the most influential and innovative musical of many years." And who is Jacques Brel and why have so many been interested in his health? According to M. Edgar Rosenblum, Executive Producer of the Woodstock Playhouse, M. Brel is a Belgian, who, living in France, became the voice of Paris in the 50's and 60's evoking the strange, haunting poetry of the late-evening bistros. A poet-musician, a troubadour-composer, Jacques Brel wrote and sang his songs of love, loneliness, hypocrisy, pity and joy. In the New York Times, Clive Barnes wrote of Brel, "His songs are about bulls, and statues, men and women, youth and age. These songs often have a power that grabs the audience by the throat. Yet Brel is also, a clear-eyed way, extraordinarily tender."

At the air-conditioned Woodstock Playhouse, the production will open Tuesday for a two-week run (no performances on Mondays).

A vivacious, young cast with impressive credentials has been assembled under the direction of Kent Paul. Mr. Paul has just directed "The Hunter" for Joseph Papp's Public Theater in New York, where earlier he directed Marguerite Duras' "The Square". The cast includes Jered Holmes who will be familiar to many from his appearances on NBC's "Tonight Show", and Merv Griffin Show", "The Ed Sullivan Show", and "To Tell the Truth" among others. In ABC-TV's "Dark Shadows" Mr. Holmes played Damion Edwards and also appeared in the film "How the West Was Won". Erika Petersen, an actress, singer, and dancer, has appeared in several Off-Broadway plays toured in "Jacques Brel", and "The Fantasticks" and has done a great deal of stock while appearing in films, night clubs, and commercials.

An actress with substantial Broadway credits including "Company", and "Fiddler on the Roof", Alice Cannon will be recognized as Mrs. Jaspersen in television's "Lance Hewitt" recently toured as Rudolph in "Hello Dolly" with Molly Picon, and has a vast amount of experience including appearances with the St. Louis Municipal Opera and the Robert F. Kennedy Theatre for Children with John Carradine. As with all musicals at the Woodstock Playhouse, "Jacques Brel" will be performed Tuesday thru Friday at 8:40 p.m., Saturday 5 and 9 p.m., and Sunday 7:30 p.m.

Children's Theatre
To answer your children's question, "What can I do now?" the Woodstock Playhouse has scheduled performances of "The Wizard of Oz", a play with music for children for the next two Saturdays at 11 a.m. The cast, directed by Philip Gushee of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, will mingle with the audience after the show.

WAA Will Present Film Program Fri.

On Friday, Aug. 11 the Woodstock Artists Association at 28 Tinker Street, Woodstock, will present films on Artists and By Artists. The program will start at 8:30 p.m.

The three artists represented in the films are: Evergood and Anton Refregier. Also on the bill of this colorful program will be a film entitled: "Buddhism, Man and Nature," and a short video film by Woodstock Community Video (WCV).

The first of the feature films is about the late Arnold Blanch, A distinguished artist, who gave a great deal of himself to the Woodstock Artists Association in previous years. The film was made in Woodstock by one of his former painting students, Bud West. It is a lyrical film in which Blanch speaks out about his life and his art.

The second film, on Philip Evergood, was made by a former Woodstock resident, Howard Bird. Evergood is one of the best known American artists in the Expressionist spirit. The film is a visual statement and record of some of his feelings about art.

The third film, MAN AND HIS ART is about well-known Woodstock Artist Anton Refregier. The film was produced and created by the University of Syracuse film division. It shows photographs of Anton working on one of his murals. Mr. Refregier who makes his home in Mexico as well as Woodstock, is a painter in the REALIST-HUMANIST vein.

A nominal donation will be accepted at the door.

Lead at Hyde Park Tonight

Tonight the tables are turned at Hyde Park Playhouse when producer PETER O'ROURKE takes to the stage in the title role of WILL ROGERS U.S.A.

O'Rourke capitalizes on his previous involvement with the WILL ROGERS show, having been lighting designer, producer, stage manager, company manager and understudy for the national tour. He now takes over as star. Originally produced in Hyde Park by O'Rourke in 1970, the show was re-booked after illness forced the cancellation of "For Love or Money."

Actor James Whitmore, who created the role, was scheduled to appear, but previous commitments plus a new fall television series prevented him from doing so. He suggested O'Rourke do the part. Taking Mr. Whitmore at his word, and with script in hand O'Rourke decided "the show must go on."

After its original presentation at Hyde Park, the WILL ROGERS show, depicting the times and character of the great humorist, went to Fords Theatre in Washington D. C., and which was aired last March over CBS-TV. The show also appeared in text in the June 1972 issue of Readers Digest.

O'Rourke has been producer at the Playhouse for the past two years. Before settling in Hyde Park, he acted and produced for television and films in Hollywood and now completes the cycle from actor to manager to actor again.

The show, which will run from August 7-12 is being presented by Elizabeth O'Rourke, wife of the producer. WILL ROGERS U.S.A., which utilizes the actual words of Will Rogers is as topical today as when he was alive, and is entertainment that the whole family can enjoy. Tickets and information for this unusual presentation may be obtained by contacting the box office at the Playhouse.

Robinson Leads Court's Soccer Romp

The game everyone was waiting for in the Junior Soccer League turned out to be somewhat of a rout. Courts Restaurant, now the only undefeated team in the league, emerged from Sunday's fray a 5-1 victor behind a trio of goals by Johnny Robinson and sent Deitz Auto Supply back to the ranks of the also-rans with their first loss in seven starts.

In other contests, the Dolphins walloped Oehler's 6-0, Dirks shocked the Cosmos 4-1 and Franz House of Beauty bombed Johnny On the Spot 10-0 as interdivisional play completed the round.

In the Junior Division, Masons suffered their first goal of the season, but still posted a 3-1 triumph over Jo-Al's for their sixth straight, and Woodside and Oscar's Tapers battled to a 2-2 draw.

Courts went into Sunday's game with six wins while Deitz had five and a tie. Both had racked up impressive goal margins on their opponents, and a real donnybrook looked unavoidable. But the Suppliers hadn't counted on Johnny Robinson.

The league's leading scorer connected on a penalty kick to boost the winners out in front, then added a pair of second-half scores to send Deitz under. Bobby Graves helped with a long bouncer over the goalie's head, and Charlie Barton completed the count with a picture shot out of a pack of defenders. Randy Hobes hit for Deitz in the first half.

Three goals by Tom Dahlen, one by brother Mike, and scores by George Nicos and Paul Kane fired the Dolphins to their third win in six starts. The Rhinebeck swiad is now a distant second to Courts in the Colonial Division.

Saugerties Takes District III Laurels

A pitching collapse in the seventh inning opened the door for the Sawyers, as John Bach scampers home with the winning run on a wild pitch to give Saugerties a 2-1 victory over Ft. Orange in the District III title game of the Junior Baseball League.

Public Announcement

Hidden Valley Lake and public swimming beach is being operated in conformity with the standards of the Ulster County Health Department.

Hidden Valley Lake is not a Binnewater Lake, but is a man made lake, about 70 years old, a mile long and fed from over 50 springs.

The natural ecology of the lake has a water turnover, 2 or 3 times each summer, during the fish spawning season. From time to time during this period, small sulphur bubbles will rise to the surface and emit an unpleasant odor. This natural odor is not connected to possible local area pollution.

Due to the close proximity of the unfortunate situation at the Rosendale Landfill nearby, Hidden Valley owners have requested repeated additional water testing for the safety of their customers, and have been given Health Department Water Safety approval.

Aid Committee Issued Records Order

NEW YORK (AP) — The Irish Northern Aid Committee, which has raised funds to aid the Irish Republican Army, has been ordered to surrender certain records on the authority of the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

The three-year-old committee was told Monday that it must allow the FBI to examine records relating to its registration early last year as an agent of foreign principal.

To date, the committee has resisted scrutiny of its fund raising records, saying the government was abusing the act to obtain information for a federal grand jury in Texas that is investigating possible gun running to the Irish Republican Army.

U.S. District Court Judge Arnold Bauman called the argument frivolous and said "the government made perfectly clear . . . that it is seeking inspection of only those books and records which are relevant to defendant registration under the 'foreign agents' capital act."

The committee, based in the Bronx, says it has raised nearly $500,000 through 93 chapters in the United States to aid the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army.

A report made public in court Monday showed that most of $108,000 raised between Aug. 1971 and Jan. 1972 was given to Joseph Cahill, militant leader of the Irish Republican Army. The committee said four of its members are among 12 persons under subpoena in the grand jury in Fort Worth in connection with the alleged gun purchase investigation. Five Irish-born New York men are being held for contempt, for refusal to answer questions about the purported weapons purchase for the IRA.

Agnew Says
NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says Republicans should recruit young voters for President Nixon to counterbalance the youth support for Sen. George S. McGovern.

Agnew warned against GOP overconfidence in a speech to about 100 Orange County Republicans Monday, and said they should work as though the election were a close race.

McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, has wooed the newly enfranchised 18-to-21-year-old vote. Agnew said, so Republican campaign workers should be sure to sign up youths who back the administration.

Film Bonanza Endangered

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — features now draw only $700,000, some as low as $650,000. The biggest blow is that network executives are selective in what they buy. "They no longer will purchase any 'quality' feature," says Lang. "They are interested in the kind of feature that is likely to make a good ratings." What has brought about this change in network feature-buying habits? A glance at the audience ratings tells the story. During the 1971-72 season, a survey of the 32 top-rated movies on the net-average price per feature rise from $300,000 to $800,000. The recession has set in. In rest were features made for dusty sources indicate most television.

The highest-rated theatrical of them, "Goldfinger," report-feature was "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," which Universal Artists may have picked placed 13th. The Elizabeth Taylor up as much as $17.5 million for "Cleopatra," which cost the entire package. Big money also has been paid for such theater blockbusters as "Patton," "Love Story," "Planet of the Apes" and "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid." Cynthia Lowry is on vacation

Cambodian Cities Face Tank-Led Enemy

SAIGON (UPI)—Elite Cambodian troops parachuted into a key town on the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway today to defend it from tank-led North Vietnamese troops, field reports said.

Two other Cambodian cities were threatened by similar tank and infantry units, sources said.

American jet fighter-bombers reported strafing a fourth tank group boldly heading south from the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Vietnam towards the Communist-held city of Quang Tri.

Field reports in Phnom Penh said the parachutists jumped into the market town of Kompong Trabek, 47 miles southeast of the Cambodian capital and about 2,000 South Vietnamese soldiers were moving into the area. Both groups attempted to relieve beleaguered Cambodian soldiers who recaptured the town from North Vietnamese units July 24.

The new allied offensive was coordinated personally by Cambodian President Lon Nol who met today with South Vietnamese military commanders in a border town shelled only hours before by Communist mortar crews.

Cambodian spokesmen said American aircraft and government artillery destroyed 21 Soviet-made tanks in three days of fighting near Kompong Trabek but at least 10 others remained in the area. One was destroyed as it burst into the city before dawn today.

Military sources said that two other large groups of tanks were closing in on the provincial capitals of Svay Rieng, 78 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, and Prey Veng, 24 miles southeast of the capital. The latter group was said to be supporting 3,000 North Vietnamese regulars.

Cambodian military spokesman Maj. Chhang Song said U.S. aircraft knocked out 14 of the tanks with the rest destroyed by Cambodian artillery.

Communist troops control most of southeastern Cambodia, including a 60-mile stretch of Highway 1, Phnom Penh's vital supply line with Saigon.

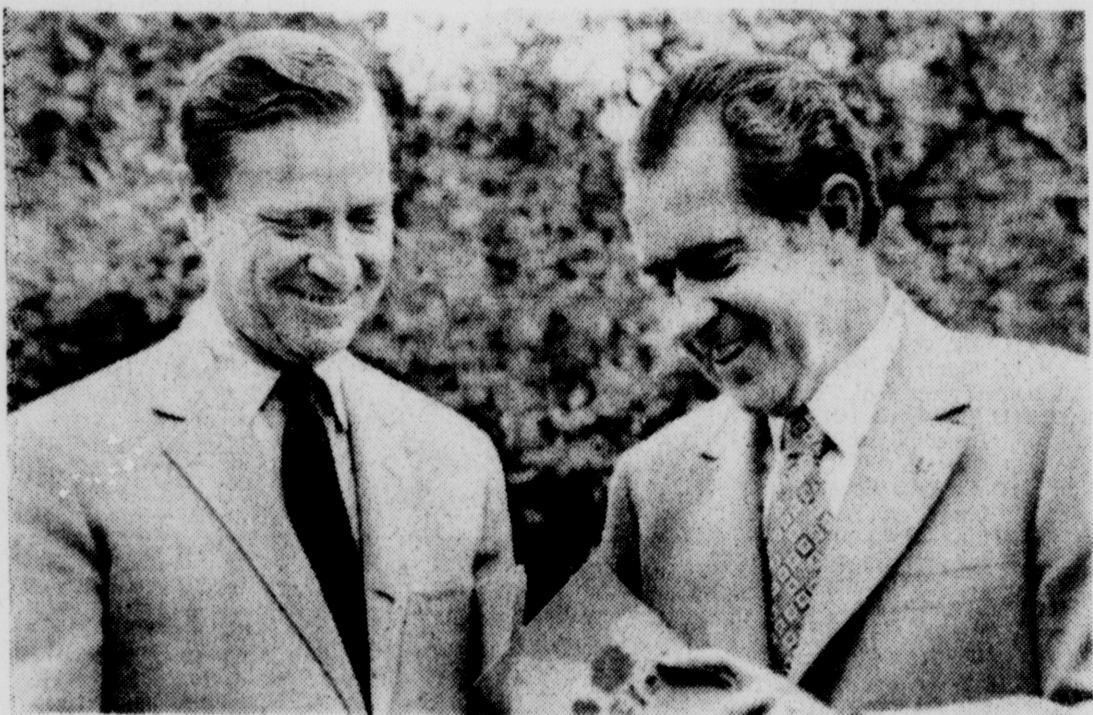

UPI correspondent Alan Dawson, reporting from South Vietnam's northernmost sector, said U. S. pilots shot at three Russian-built tanks moving along an open road just south of the DMZ today. The results were not known.

But South Vietnamese troops on the 42nd day of a campaign to retake Quang Tri city, their northernmost provincial capital, reported knocking out eight tanks Monday near the city. They said they killed 198 of the North Vietnamese soldiers who have held the city since May 1—at a loss of 14 dead from their own ranks.

Fifty miles to the south, North Vietnamese troops who had seized seven hamlets in the area of Hue Sunday night, pulled out Monday, Dawson said.

In the air war Monday, air force bombers used laser-guided "smart" bombs to destroy three spans of a railway bridge northeast of Hanoi and only 35 miles from the Chinese border.

ENVIRONMENTAL REPORT — Russell Train, chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, presents the council's third annual report to the President at the White House on Monday. The report said that it will cost the nation $287.1 billion in this decade — an average of $100 a year for every man, woman and child — to control pollution. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Soviet Union and Red China... Public Feuding Again Over Border

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and China are feuding publicly again over their border in Asia.

Publication in Peking of a new Chinese world atlas opened the latest round in the dispute that has its origins centuries ago, when Czars and emperors ruled the two countries.

"The authors of this geographical study," the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said Monday night, "are trying to justify the territorial claims of the Chinese leadership to 1½ million square kilometers of fair." This raises against the 19th Century equalities of 519,000 square miles.

The lengthy article was called "Geography, Maoist Style." In 1963 — as Chinese-Soviet relations rapidly disintegrated — China aired a vague claim to the same amount of land in Siberia and the Soviet Far East.

The Chinese argued that the lands had been taken by treaties imposed unfairly on the weak imperial Chinese government in the 19th Century.

The Soviet claim is based on physical possession of the area as well as Russian exploration and settlement of the eastern reaches of Siberia in the early 17th Century and their formal annexation in 1690.

Russia ceded the territory back to China in 1690 and 1728, to justify the territorial claims. But Moscow contends these treaties were "unequal and unjust" and that Russia recovered the territory.

"The People's Republic of China is... the only big state whose leadership picks territorial quarrels with its neighbors in the North and South, in the East and West," Izvestia said.

"Those who put forward absurd demands to the USSR should recall the way the Soviet people regard such claims."

This could be a reference to the battle on March 2, 1969, between Soviet and Chinese troops at Damasky Island, in the Ussuri River, which forms the Far Eastern frontier. It was the first of five armed clashes, officially announced and protested, and hundreds of lesser incidents during the following six months.

The Washington Democrat introduced the amendment last week, arousing a storm of protest from some senators who support the pact.

SALT Move Seen Pivotal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A gossamer warning to the Soviets has been toned down and endorsed by the White House in an effort to appease senators on both sides of the U.S.-Soviet arms limitation agreement.

The compromise may have improved chances for early Senate passage of the agreement limiting offensive nuclear arsenals, although initial reaction to the developments Monday was decidedly mixed.

The White House publicly endorsed Sen. Henry M. Jackson's amendment to the five-year SALT agreement after Jackson eliminated its strongest provision: a note to Russia that installing multiple warheads capable of destroying U.S. missile silos on its 313 largest intercontinental missiles could threaten American security and cause the United States to disown the interim SALT agreement.

The Washington Democrat introduced the amendment last week, arousing a storm of protest from some senators who support the pact.

Senate Republican leader

Hugh Scott joined Jackson in proposing the amendment, leading some senators to conclude it had White House support from the beginning.

The White House emphasized it had worked with Jackson on the amendment in order to win over critics who fear the agreement could endanger U.S. security because it concedes the Soviets a temporary edge in the total number of land and sea-based missiles.

Jackson consulted with the White House on the revised amendment, which retains language calling for U.S. negotiators to seek strategic equality in any future SALT treaty with the Soviet Union.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Foreign Relations Committee chairman, said he still isn't satisfied.

Ulster Toll . . . 500 Since 1969

BELFAST (AP) — The death toll in three years of religious warfare in Northern Ireland reached 500 Monday night, according to revised police figures, as Roman Catholic politicians met in secret with British officials.

Police headquarters said William Henry Creighton, a 40-year-old lance corporal in the Ulster Defense Regiment, became the 500th victim of the violence that started 36 months ago. The first fatality was on Aug. 14, 1969.

Creighton, who was in uniform, was killed by a gunman hiding in the bushes 15 yards from his home at Magheravally, close to the border with the Irish Republic.

Police said the count of 500 was a revision. Earlier, before Creighton's death, a total of 493 was being used, but all such figures are considered inexact because the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army usually carry off their dead and bury them secretly.
